OVERVIEW

TRADITION AND TECHNOLOGY COME TOGETHER... Packaged barn kits have a long and wonderful history for barn builders, most famously connected to the Sears mail-order catalog during the early 1900s. A kit makes the build quick, simple and consistent - the barn owner has confidence in the finished product before the package even arrives. Each of the Barn Pros packages are assembled and shipped within a matter of weeks, delivered directly to our customers neatly packaged and ready to build. The secret to Barn Pros efficiency is our streamlined business model. At our facility near Seattle, Washington, the structural components of each package are manufactured and packaged. We pre-cut and assemble as much as possible before fitting all the materials onto a flatbed truck. Components are then wrapped and loaded on the truck, labeled for easy identification. This entire process takes place inside our 30,000 sq ft manufacturing facility, ensuring that…
