OVERVIEW

It has been said that the Trakehner has everything everybody is looking for in a performance horse, and indeed, the breed's list of attributes certainly leads one to believe it. Trakehners have size, bone, and correctness of conformation, yet are extremely breedy and beautiful. They are very athletic, with magnificent movement that is comfortable, balanced, and free. And best of all, they have an ideal temperament - keen and alert, yet level-headed and able to take intense work. The popularity of this breed is growing at an astounding rate.
