OVERVIEW

Come learn to be fluent in the language of dressage! Dressage is the language we invented to communicate with horses. They don't speak English (or French or German or any other human language) and we don't speak horse. Not well, at least. Dressage makes sense to horses and they learn quickly with a skilled "speaker" of the language. I am an FEI competitor and USDF Bronze medalist with over 30 years professional experience and a lifelong horsewoman. As a former dressage and jumping instructor for UW, Everett CC, and Everett Parks Department, I specialize in adult beginning riders though I do teach first time riders through FEI competitors and several other professional trainers. My emphasis is on horse/rider biomechanics and communication to create harmony as a team. I prefer working with adults because I love to share that excitement they feel as they live out their lifelong dream of riding, perhaps owning,...
