OVERVIEW

KINEQUUS PADS™ use a unique technology, forming an orthotic imprint of your saddle as it sits on an individual horse. Kinequus custom orthotic pads use an exciting technology new to the saddle pad industry. Thermo-mouldable technology is the key ingredient to ensuring the creation of an optimal, customized pad. When heated to a specific temperature these materials mould to the space between your horse and saddle, filling in all the gaps and protecting against areas of pressure. The impression is permanent once cooled. The end result is a custom orthotic fit between the wool felt and the bottom of your saddle. The custom orthotic impression ensures an even distribution of pressure between the rigid underside of your saddle and the dynamic surface of your horse's back. The moulded material retains its ability to absorb shock over the now perfectly symmetrical surface under your saddle. These properties coupled with the…
