OVERVIEW

PranaHorse.com is your local resource for "Energy Healing for Horses" in-person clinics in Oregon and Washington; online training and remote healing anywhere in the world. Why is Energy Healing important? Because your horse's energy determines how quickly they recover from illness and injury, their overall feelings of well-being, and general attitude towards life. When your horse's energy is clear, he is resilient when presented with stressful circumstances and can focus on his training. Energy healing is based on the same principles as acupuncture: that our horses have a physical body and an invisible energy body. When the energy body is balanced and clear, the physical body is healthy. When the energy body is out of balance and congested, the physical body reflects this and develops what we call 'symptoms.' PranaHorse.com workshops can teach you how to work with your horse's energy to support and accelerate their body's natural healing ability....
