OVERVIEW

I am Yogi Sharp Farrier and as a farrier studying for my PhD in farriery science I have seen that every aspect of horse care is closely interlinked, what I do to the bottom closely affects the rest of the body and vice versa. Day in, day out, across the world, people are researching these relationships and writing papers on the real science of equine care. I believe its important this information is made more accessible to the equestrian world. from owners to practitioners to vets, so people can provide the best care for their horses based on real science. This Website will bring you cutting edge equine research on all aspects of equine care. Health Care Products|Resources
