OVERVIEW

WeatherPort™ Shelter Systems is the leading manufacturer of durable fabric buildings for equine events, operations and activities. These tension fabric structures offer protective shelters and long-lasting buildings for a variety of uses within the equine industry. With a limitless selection of pre-engineered designs as well as custom options, WeatherPort's fabric buildings can be designed as large arenas or as small buildings for tack storage. The common applications for these structures are horse arenas, auction barns, boarding facilities, camp buildings, covered corrals, event venues, equipment storage, and even vacation structures such as yurts. All WeatherPort buildings are constructed with highly durable materials to ensure longevity in even the most harsh climates. The clear-span architectural design allows for maximum interior space, making these buildings ideal for arenas and storage facilities, but they can also be built-out with stalls and other internal structures for specific equine applications.
